WELCOME

Welcome to the symposium “Brexit: Opportunities and prospects in the cultural sector”!

Since 2013, the International Theatre Institute (ITI) Germany, the Internationale Gesellschaft der Bildenden Künste (IGBK), and the Dachverband Tanz Deutschland have been jointly operating the information portal and free advisory service for artists and culture professionals in an international context (to/from Germany). www.touring-artists.info. Since 2022, this also includes the Brexit Infopoint, with tailored information and advice on the topic of mobility and creative work between Germany and the UK. Now, we are meeting in Hamburg, as an extensive network amongst public and private institutions from the cultural sector in the UK, in Germany and other countries of the EU.

We want to connect actors from the cultural sector, cultural administrations and cultural policy and share knowledge and experiences on various topics related to Brexit with you. Our gathering is intended to open up opportunities and perspectives for future cooperation. Among the topics to be discussed are funding opportunities on different levels, as well as festivals and artist residencies. Current challenges, for example in the areas of visas or transport and customs, will also be discussed.

The symposium will take place on 20 September 2023 at Kampnagel. On 21 September, we are getting together as part of the Reeperbahn Festival at the location Pauli Spirit. Many sessions on 20 September 2023 can be joined via Zoom as well.

We are looking forward to two eventful and intensive days with you (and also hope to visit great concerts together in this city)!
